Objective (100 words)	The main goal of the speech was to inform the audience on the importance of NEP and academic research and how they foster critical thinking and creativity. The resource person informed the pupils about the significant changes brought about by NEP with regard to the relevance and necessity of education in our daily lives. Additionally, he provided us with insightful advice on how to select research topics, perform thorough investigations, and understand the procedural aspects of research, such as the five Ws of research (who, what, where, when, and why). The speaker intended for this to inspire students to engage in meaningful study that both represents their personal interests and expands our collective understanding.
Benefit in-terms of learning/skill/knowledge obtained	NEP, Understanding Research Fundamentals, Topic Selection Strategies, Identifying Research Gaps, Alignment with Personal Interests, Feasibility Considerations, and Holistic Skill Development were all thoroughly understood by both students and faculty members after the seminar.
